E. OCHOA AND RODRIGUEZCharge of Tampering With Witnesses Dismissed; Rogers to Go to Prison.Victor L. Ochoa and Emil Rodriguez were acquitted in federal court Thursday afternoon of a charge of attempting to influence government witnesses.
The charge grew out of an indictment against the two men in which they were accused of violating the neutrality laws by enlisting men for armed service in Mexico.It was alleged by the prosecution that the defendants had attempted to persuade government witnesses to leave town before the case came to trial. J. J.
Mahon conducted the defense. Ochoa and Rodriguez were tried at the next term of court on the neutrality violation charge.Clare L. Rogers will not fight the result of the federal court jury which found him guilty of tampering with registered packages. Friday morning prosecutors for Rogers' extradition motion for a new trial. Rogers will probably be taken to Leavenworth with the other convicted prisoners of the federal court.

Court Adjourns.

The present term of court was adjourned Friday until May 17, when Judge Henry D. Clayton will return to hear a number of non-jury cases. Judge Clayton and his court will leave tonight for San Antonio, where federal court will begin next week. Friday morning the session of the court was taken up with the hearing of a writ of habeas corpus for the release from detention of Chin Gim Fook, who is held by the immigration authorities for Rogers' extradition. The prosecution's attorneys claim he is an American citizen. Judge Clayton ruled that the prisoner should be released on bail and allowed to secure testimony as to his rights as an American citizen.
